Webasto ChargeConnect
Updates June 2023

Test phase launched for a new feature with simplified guest access to the charging station without app

In June, we released a prototype feature that gives guests an easy access to charging stations without the need for an app or charging card.

The idea is based on creating QR codes, which the guests receive as vouchers and by scanning the QR code, the charging session can be started by using a smartphone.

In addition, limits can be stored on the QR code voucher. On the one hand, an energy limitation for kWh is possible. In addition, an expiration date can be stored for the voucher.

Currently, the new feature is being tested with great enthusiasm at the Webasto parking lot in Planegg. This will be followed by the first optimization loop via update at the end of July, before the function is officially released as a premium feature at the end of August.
